To Our Valued Customers,

Hayward Flow Control continues to monitor and stay current with the latest US Federal and State Government information regarding Covid-19 during these challenging times. Hayward has fully implemented all appropriate actions to insure the safety and welfare of our associates and customers.

Hayward has been granted Essential business status. As such, all aspects of our US based manufacturing and supply chain operations remain fully functional and able to support the needs of our partners. At this moment, we do not anticipate the need to suspend any operations.

We have implemented all suggested guidelines as provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) throughout all aspects of our operation and will continue to follow their guidance as provided by Federal and State authorities. Hayward's operations are functioning in a safe and efficient manner to insure the safety and wellbeing of our associates. Flow Control products are available to support the essential production processes for our global customers.

We will continue to provide updates if there are any changes to the current situation at Hayward. We thank you for your understanding and continued support. Stay safe and healthy.

Sincerely,

Hayward Flow Control
